RAPID RE-HOUSING UNDER THE EMERGENCY SOLUTIONS GRANTS PROGRAM VERSUS THE CONTINUUM OF CARE PROGRAM

SIMILARITIES AND DIFFERENCES

Rapid re-housing (RRH) assistance aims to help individuals or families who are homeless move as quickly as possible into permanent housing and achieve stability in that housing through a combination of rental assistance and supportive services.

Communities have demonstrated and research has shown that RRH is a valuable strategy for quickly transitioning such individuals and families directly from shelter into permanent housing with needed and appropriate supports. To sustain RRH as a valuable community tool for ending homelessness, the Emergency Solutions Grants (ESG) program and the Continuum of Care (CoC) program both include rapid re-housing as an eligible form of assistance.

For administrative ease and when possible, HUD developed consistent eligible costs and program requirements for rapid re-housing for the two programs. However, some significant differences remain in the eligible costs and requirements for RRH activities administered under the ESG and CoC programs. This guidance document summarizes the significant similarities and differences between RRH assistance under the CoC program versus under the ESG program.

For more information, readers should also refer to materials on the OneCPD Resource Exchange, such as the webinar on Determining and Documenting Homeless and At Risk Status, Income, and Disability.

1. ELIGIBLE POPULATION

1.1 Determining Eligibility

ESG and CoC recipients and subrecipients must develop policies and procedures for identifying which families and individuals will receive RRH assistance. Using the centralized or coordinated assessment system, CoC and ESG recipients and subrecipients must conduct an initial evaluation of each individual or family seeking RRH assistance in order to determine:

- Eligibility. The eligibility of each individual or family seeking CoC or ESG assistance based on the individual's or family's living situation; and
- Need. The amount and type of assistance needed for the individual or family to (re)gain stability in permanent housing.

Eligibility

One of the major differences between RRH assistance under the ESG program and the CoC program centers on eligibility. To receive ESG rapid re-housing (ESG-RRH) assistance, an individual or family must demonstrate at initial evaluation that it is literally homeless (referred to as Category 1 in the Homeless Definition Final Rule). An individual or family is defined as "literally homeless" if (1) living in a public or private place not meant for human habitation, (2) living in temporary shelter, which includes congregate shelters and transitional housing, or (3) exiting an institution where the individual or family has resided for 90 or fewer days and was living in shelter or in a place not meant for habitation before entering the institution.

RRH assistance is also available to people fleeing or attempting to flee domestic violence if they are also literally homeless (24 CFR part 576.104).

To receive CoC rapid re-housing (CoC-RRH) assistance, though, individuals and families may be defined as homeless under any of the four categories included in the Homeless Definition Final Rule:

- Literally homeless (Category 1).
- Imminently losing their primary night-time residence (Category 2).
- Unaccompanied youth under 25 years of age or families with children and youth who do not otherwise qualify as homeless under this definition but who are defined as homeless under another Federal statute and meet additional specified criteria (Category 3). Note: For CoC-RRH assistance to be provided to persons defined as homeless under Category 3, the project must be located within the geographic area of a CoC that has received HUD approval to serve this population.
- Fleeing or attempting to flee domestic violence, dating violence, sexual assault, stalking, or other dangerous or life-threatening conditions (Category 4).

The CoC Program Notice of Funding Availability (NOFA) may impose additional eligibility requirements not reflected in the regulation. Projects funded to carry out RRH assistance under the CoC program must follow both CoC Program NOFA and regulatory requirements.

Need and Continued Eligibility

ESG and CoC recipients and subrecipients must conduct regular re-evaluations, at least annually, of program participants receiving RRH assistance.

To continue to receive ESG- and CoC-RRH assistance, a program participant's re-evaluation must demonstrate eligibility based on:

- Lack of resources and support networks. The program participant's household must continue to lack sufficient resources and support networks to retain housing without ESG or CoC program assistance.
- Need. The recipient or subrecipient must determine the amount and type of assistance that the individual or family will need to (re)gain stability in permanent housing.

In addition, an ESG-RRH re-evaluation must demonstrate:

- Income. The program participant household's annual income must be less than or equal to 30 percent of Area Median Income (AMI).

The CoC Program interim rule does not establish an income eligibility guideline for continued RRH assistance. However, as part of its written standards, a Continuum of Care may establish an income requirement for continued eligibility in order to align—to the extent possible—its RRH assistance with ESG assistance provided within the CoC's geographic area. In addition, an ESG recipient may, in developing its written standards, set a more restrictive income eligibility standard. That is, the HUD eligibility standard defines the upper bound of eligibility, which the CoC and/or the ESG recipient may narrow further as part of its effort to target limited resources.

Exhibit 1 summarizes the differences between the criteria that apply at initial evaluation and at subsequent re-evaluations.

2. ELIGIBLE USE OF FUNDS

ESG and CoC rapid re-housing grant funds may be used to provide short- and/or medium-term rental assistance and accompanying, limited supportive services, as needed, to help an individual or family that is homeless move as quickly as possible into permanent housing and achieve stability in that housing. Exhibit 2 provides a summary of eligible costs under ESG-RRH and CoC-RRH.

2.1 Rental Assistance

Both the ESG and CoC programs offer short- and medium-term rental assistance. ESG- RRH also may be used for payment of an eligible program participant’s rent in arrears. However, CoC- RRH assistance may not be used for payment of rent in arrears.

In addition, ESG and CoC recipients and subrecipients may tailor their RRH rental assistance programs by specifying in their respective written standards:

- The maximum amount or percentage of rental assistance that a program participant may receive
- The maximum number of months that a program participant may receive rental assistance
- The maximum number of times that a program participant may receive rental assistance
- The extent to which a program participant must share the cost of rent

2.2 Eligible Type(s) of Rental Assistance

ESG-RRH rental assistance may be either tenant-based or project-based, but CoC-RRH rental assistance may only be tenant-based.

Tenant-based rental assistance (TBRA) enables program participants to locate housing of their choice in the private rental market. If a program participant later moves to another suitable unit, he or she may apply the rental assistance to the new unit. Even with the TBRA model, ESG and CoC recipients and subrecipients may require program participants to live within a particular geographic area or in a specific structure for the first year and in a specific area for the remainder of their period of participation (24 CFR part 578.51(c)).

Under both ESG and CoC, TBRA is subject to additional requirements, including quality of the unit (housing standards), rent reasonableness, documentation (e.g., lease, sublease), and written standards adopted by the recipient and subrecipient.

Project-based rental assistance (PBRA) is paid on behalf of an eligible program participant who moves into and leases a housing unit covered by a pre-existing rental assistance agreement between the owner of the unit and the recipient or subrecipient. Rental units covered by such agreements must be occupied and leased only by eligible ESG-RRH program participants.

Exhibit 3 summarizes RRH rental assistance activities and standards under the ESG and CoC programs.

Lease Requirements	<ul style="list-style-type: none"> • A written lease between the owner and the program participant is required for TBRA and PBRA. • For program participants living in housing with PBRA, the lease must have an initial term of one year. There is no minimum lease period for TBRA. • The only exception to the written lease requirement is in the case of rental assistance provided solely for rental arrears. 	Program participants receiving TBRA must sign a lease of at least one year that is renewable (for a minimum term of one month) and terminable only for cause.
Written Standards	Recipients and subrecipients must develop and implement written policies and procedures for: <ul style="list-style-type: none"> • Determining and prioritizing which eligible families and individuals will receive RRH assistance • Determining the amount or percentage of rent and utilities each program participant must pay • Determining how long a particular program participant will be provided with rental assistance and whether and how the amount of that assistance will be adjusted over time 	Recipients and subrecipients must establish and consistently follow policies and procedures established for: <ul style="list-style-type: none"> • Determining and prioritizing which eligible families and individuals will receive RRH assistance • Determining the amount or percentage of rent each program participant must pay • Determining the maximum amount or percentage of rental assistance that a program participant may receive • Determining the maximum number of months that a program participant may receive rental assistance • Determining the maximum number of times that a program participant may receive rental assistance • Determining the extent to which a program participant must share the cost of rent

2.3 Services

In addition to rental assistance, rapid re-housing funds may be used to provide supportive services (CoC) and housing relocation and stabilization services (ESG) that address the specific needs of program participants and that are essential for assisting program participants in obtaining and maintaining housing.

The scope of services available to RRH program participants is more limited under the ESG program than under the CoC program, but both programs share some eligible service costs. Exhibit 4 provides an overview of each program’s supportive services requirements.

Exhibit 4: Supportive Services Overview
	ESG-RRH	CoC-RRH
Services	Supportive services are limited to housing relocation and stabilization services.	Supportive services include a wide range of services outlined in 24 CFR part 578.53.
Limit on Service Provision	Housing stability case management assistance may not exceed 30 days during the period in which the program participant is seeking permanent housing and may not exceed 24 months during the period in which the program participant is living in permanent housing.	Supportive services may be provided until 6 months after rental assistance stops.
Case Management Requirement	At a minimum, program participants must attend monthly case management meetings.	At a minimum, program participants must attend monthly case management meetings.

Exhibit 5 provides a summary of eligible supportive services under ESG-RRH and CoC-RRH. While CoC funding may be used to fund all CoC supportive services listed in 24 CFR part 578.53, the CoC may develop written policies and procedures that limit the services available to program participants in order to align CoC-funded RRH programs with ESG-funded RRH programs.
